

From Daesh to 'Diaspora' II: The Challenges Posed by Women and Minors After the Fall of the Caliphate

By: Joana Cook and Gina Vale, The International Centre for the Study of Radicalisation

Total confirmed Islamic State affiliates in Iraq and Syria

Total confirmed Islamic State affiliates returned to country of departure

Proportions of women and minor returnees

Official recorded proportion of infants born in Iraq and Syria to foreign parent(s)

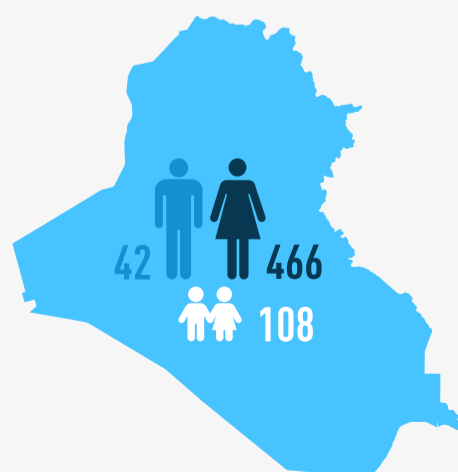

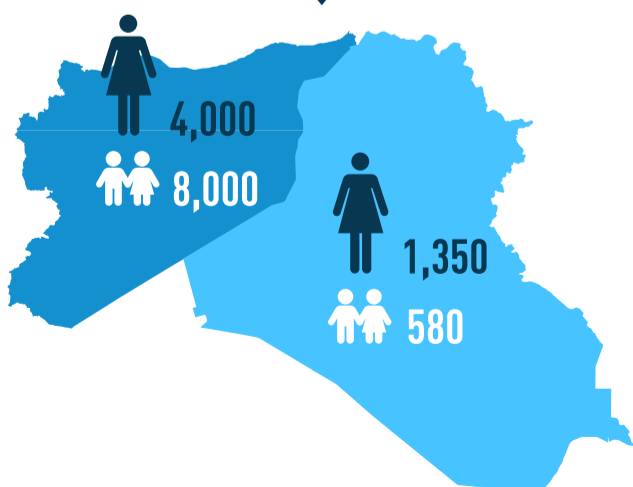

Sample of countries with notable proportions of women and minor returnees*

Foreign women and minors detained in Iraq and Syria from April 2018

Foreign men, women and minors tried and convicted in Iraq of Islamic State membership in 2018

You can download all our publications for free at www.icsr.info

* All figures above represent the upper limit for ranges outlined in the data table. The full ranges are available in Table 1 in our report.

 All figures are sourced in the report.

 This article first appeared in CTC Sentinel, July 2019 as "From Daesh to 'Diaspora' II: The Challenges Posed by Women and Minors After the Fall of the Caliphate".

This article is a follow-up from the July 2018 report, "From Daesh to 'Diaspora': Tracing the Women and Minors of Islamic State" available at www.icsr.info